AGC and iSqFt Extend Exclusive Agreement

CINCINNATI – March 10, 2008 – The Associated General Contractors of America (AGC) and iSqFt have announced a three-year extension to their exclusive strategic partnership agreement. Through this agreement, the AGC, the leading national trade association representing commercial construction contractors in the United States maintains iSqFt, a leading provider of innovative preconstruction services for contractors, in its role as an AGC of America Strategic Business Partner.

“This agreement allows us to continue to make iSqFt’s software and services available to our members across the country,” said Stephen Sandherr, AGC chief executive officer. “We have found that the tools offered by iSqFt help our members more effectively manage and improve their business practices.”

Signed in 2001, the original agreement was the culmination of an extensive review of more than 200 web companies by the AGC. Since the beginning of the partnership, construction professionals have visited the iSqFt site over 30 million times, resulting in the download of more than 200 million blueprint pages. This level of activity and the extended agreement are an affirmation of the findings of the original exploration that resulted in the selection of iSqFt as the AGC’s exclusive technology partner for preconstruction services.

“Over the past six years we have been able to positively impact the business of thousands of commercial contractors across the U.S.,” noted Dave Conway, iSqFt president and CEO. “Our relationship with the AGC continues to drive growth while delivering value to local AGC chapters and their members. This extension will allow us to continue to work hand-in-hand with them to create an even more efficient and profitable future for the industry.”

The three-year extension will allow iSqFt to provide AGC members with a technology solution that enables them to be more efficient and profitable throughout their preconstruction process. From communicating and sharing information to being a reliable source for finding additional project opportunities, iSqFt provides the industry with a forum for general contractors, specialty contractors, and suppliers to network.

In the past five years, iSqFt was twice recognized by Inc. magazine on its Inc. 500 list of the fastest growing companies in the United States. More recently, iSqFt’s two signature products – the Internet Plan Room® and the Private Construction Office were both named Top Products by Constructech magazine, which covers industry trends to find the most innovative software available to the commercial construction industry today.
